The Disability and Communication Access Board welcomes Andrew Phillips to Honolulu, Hawaii to present three workshops on legal rights, policies, and perspectives in October 2014.

Andrew Phillips is the Policy Counsel at the National Association of the Deaf (NAD). He is responsible for providing analysis, recommendations, and counsel to the NAD on policy issues affecting deaf and hard of hearing people across the United States.

After graduating from the California School for the Deaf (Fremont) and Gallaudet University, Andrew Phillips earned his law degree from U.C. Hastings College of the Law in San Francisco where he was a member of the Hastings Science and Technology Law Journal.

Phillips is heavily involved with the NAD's work on federal legislation and the rulemaking processes within various federal agencies such as the Federal Communications Commission and the Department of Justice. Phillips is a former Congressional Intern of U.S. Senator Barbara Boxer and worked in her Capitol Hill office.
