State Performance Plan/Annual Performance Report (SPP/APR) Indicator

Post-School Outcomes

What it measures:

The percent of youth who are no longer in secondary school, had IEPs in effect at the time they left school, and were:

- A. Enrolled in higher education within one year of leaving high school;
- B. Enrolled in higher education or competitively employed within one year of leaving high school;
- C. Enrolled in higher education or in some other postsecondary education program; or competitively employed or in some other employment within one year of leaving high school.

Why it is important:

The post-school outcomes survey provides information regarding the lives of students with IEPs one year after they have left high school. It is one way to help determine whether the students' education prepared them for adult life.

How data is collected:

Hawaii teachers collect the data through a post-school outcomes survey by contacting former students one year after leaving high school.

Class of 2022 Post-school Outcomes

The only area in the most recent post-school outcomes survey for Class of 2022 students with IEPs that fell significantly short of its target was Measure B. This suggests that fewer students were competitively employed within one year of leaving high school than was anticipated.
