SPIN CONFERENCE

The main title "Totally Rad" is written in a large, black, cursive font with a pink outline. Below it, the words "RESOURCE" and "ROOM" are written in a large, black, bold, sans-serif font, also with a pink outline. The background is decorated with large, stylized starburst shapes in pink and white, and several lit candles in various colors (red, black, gold, blue) with yellow flames. The candles have different patterns: some are solid, some have polka dots, and some have stripes.

She is completing her master's degree in Cognitive Diversity, focusing on strength-based approaches for dyslexi and 2e learners. As both a professional and a parent navigating neurodiversity within her own family, Jennifer understands how overwhelming this journey can feel. Through Coaching for Ohana, she helps families move beyond labels to recognize strengths and create practical, confidence-building next steps at home and in school. Her goal is simple: that parents leave feeling less alone and clearer about how to support their child.

Help Your Keiki / Evidence-Based Services Committee

Table # 60

Website: www.helpyourkeiki.com

The Help Your Keiki webpage is a website for parents, by parents in collaboration with the State of Hawai'i's Evidence-Based Services (EBS) Committee. Since 1999, the Evidence-Based Services Committee has been promoting best practices to serve children and adolescents with mental health needs. With that goal in mind, the EBS committee developed the Help Your Keiki website. Parents and caregivers can use this website at every stage of addressing their child's difficulties. For example, parents can use the information on this website to help them understand if their child may have characteristics of a mental health disorder. If parents do have a child with mental health needs, they can use this site to learn about what they can do to get their child the best help available. If parents have already started working with a therapist, they can use this site to guide the questions to ask their therapist.

Parents for Public Schools of Hawaii (PPS-HI) is a non-profit organization of parents, educators, community leaders, policy makers and other stakeholders in Hawaii public education. We work collaboratively to improve and support public education in Hawaii by increasing family and community engagement through our Parent Engagement Program (PEP), and other community events. We partner with public elementary, intermediate and high schools as well as other community organizations to hold free 45-90 minute parent engagement workshops. Parents of children of all ages are invited to attend any of our 16 different PEP workshops, held both in-person and online. PPS-HI provides free refreshments, childcare, and a stipend program for financial support to families who attend 3 or more workshops. We also work with local media and key decision makers to advocate for policies that increase educational opportunities for parents, families and children.
